

Raynor appoints three vice presidents

In June, Raynor announced the appointment of three vice presidents.

David Selby has been promoted to vice president of global supply chain and Canadian operations. Selby joined Richards-Wilcox (Raynor Canada) in 2007 as vice president of operations. He previously worked in various finance and operational roles in the aerospace and circuit board industries. He holds a bachelor of business administration degree and an MBA.

Mary Whelan has been promoted to vice president of human resources, responsible for recruitment, employee and labor relations, performance management, compensation and benefits, and training and development. Whelan has been with Raynor since 1999, most recently as director of human resources. She is a graduate of Northern Illinois University and holds a degree in human resource management.

Michael Setchell is now senior vice president of finance and chief financial officer of Raynor Worldwide. He previously was a Certified Public Accountant and partner at CliftonLarsonAllen. He graduated from Southern Illinois University, majoring in finance and accounting. ■

Alpine Overhead Doors names COO

In August, Alpine Overhead Doors announced that Michael Magro had been named the chief operating officer of Alpine's rolling steel door manufacturing plant in East Setauket, N.Y. This position was occupied by Vincent Magro, one of Alpine's two owners, until he died in February 2015 after contracting an incurable illness. He had been with Alpine for more than 40 years.

Michael Magro is a second-generation member of the ownership family. He graduated from Hofstra University with a bachelor of business administration degree in 2004. He has worked in areas of Alpine's rolling steel door operations. ■

Guardian adds sales manager for Latin America

In August, Guardian USA announced the addition of Manuel Escalante as its sales manager for Latin America, a new region. Originally from El Salvador, Escalante has over 30 years of experience in the international arena in telecommunications with 3M and in access control and automation systems with Chamberlain. ■

Raynor appoints director of purchasing

In June, Raynor announced the promotion of Susan Swanson to director of purchasing. Swanson joined Raynor in 2001 as a buyer and was promoted to commodity manager in 2005 and then purchasing manager in 2015. ■

Raynor appoints director of business development

In July, Raynor announced the appointment of Stowe Harbin to director of business development. In the garage door industry for 10 years, Harbin previously worked in sales for Overhead Door and for Genie, where he was responsible for selling and servicing Lowe's, Home Depot, and Sears. He holds a bachelor's degree and served in the U.S. Army. ■